

The steamship Pommerania, with 226 passengers and crew, was run in to by an iron bark, off the coast of Dover, England, causing her to sink with her cargo of human freight. Sixty persons lost their lives, while the others were picked by passing vessels. Not a man of the crew was lost except the Captain, who heroically refused to make any efforts for himself until the last one of his passengers had been provided for. He had made 125 successful passages across the Atlantic Ocean, and was as brave a man as ever commanded a ship. The collision was the result of carelessness, which will be rigidly investigated. A number of those lost were Americans.

A NEGRO named George Williams committed a heinous outrage on a little eight-year-old white girl at Brownsville, Ky., and was arrested and put in jail at LaGrange, Ky. Thursday night a mob overpowered the jailer, got possession of the keys and took Williams from the jail. The next morning the body of the infant brat was found dangling to a tree; and the verdict of all good people, notwithstanding Judge Lynch was master of ceremonies, is that he was served exactly right. Designing lawyers, over-conscientious jurors, insecure jails, and the Court of Appeals are now powerless to aid him.

A WEEK or so ago we said a word or two of encouragement for the editor of the Southern Reporter, believing that he was sorry for his silly action during the campaign and was anxious to acknowledge his wrong; but his remarks of last week show that he has "returned to his vomit," and is no longer a subject of Democratic confidence or patronage. We are a little sorry to give him up, but we have lost a great many just as good men, and never missed them. Bye, bye, old fellow!

Mr. J. W. POMPHREY, editor of the Saturday Evening Press of Covington, has been indicted for criminal libel by the grand jury of Kenton county, in that he did "falsely, scandalously and maliciously publish that Hon. John G. Carlisle, member of Congress, is an habitual drunkard, violator of confidence, breaker of promises and betrayer of his friends." Mr. Pomphrey's bail was fixed at $200.

The Woman has a well written editorial urging the election of Hon. J. C. Blackburn as next Speaker of the House of Representatives, which we heartily endorse. Capt. Blackburn's election would do honor to the great party of which he has proved himself so true a member, and would be a fit recognition of the claims of a man who has labored so hard for the success of the Democracy.

The Court of Appeals has affirmed the decision of the lower court in the case against Frazee for killing Hanks, some time ago, in Anderson county. Mr. Frazee will, therefore, suffer imprisonment in the Penitentiary during the period of his natural life. Score one for the Appellate Court.

An explosion occurred in the Sullivan (Ind.) Coal Mines a few days ago, caused by the ignition of the lamp flames with the gas and the consequent setting fire of eight kegs of powder that were stored in the mines. Thirteen persons were killed outright and eight or ten badly wounded.

MARSHAL J. L. YOUNG has died of the wounds received in attempting to arrest some scoundrels who were trying to run rough shod over the town of Mt. Sterling. Elitor Thomas J. Young and the other wounded are doing well, and are in a fair way to recover.

ANGELL, the man who euchered the Pullman Palace Car Company out of $120,000 and fled, has been hunted down, and is now in a jail at Lisbon, Portugal, awaiting the action of the Company. On his person was found a roll of bank notes amounting to $80,000.

HEMING the year ending 31st October there were 758 railroad accidents in the United States, resulting in the deaths of 204 persons and the serious wounding of 740 others. Riding on the rail is a pretty serious business when you come to think of it.

THE Lexington Transcript pays its contributors only 18 cents per thousand, and they take their spite out by refusing to use punctuation marks. The personal columns of that paper now look like a mail list.

RADICALISM is so dead in Louisiana, the only paper left in the State to advocate that doctrine, has made its ascension robes and is waiting for some good day to "go up."

GOVERNOR GEORGE S. HOUSTON, a man who will reflect credit on himself and the so-called solid South, has been elected Senator from the State of Alabama. There were only two votes against him.

A YOUNG desperado named Samuel Judd, who has killed four men in the last three years, rode up to Frank Turner's house, near Williamstown, Ky., and calling him out told him that he must take a drink with him. Turner, not being a drinking man, refused, whereupon Judd drew his pistol and ordered him to get down on his knees and apologize for having struck his younger brother on election day. Turner fearing to do otherwise, obeyed, when Judd rushed at his throat with a knife which he plunged into it, and tearing the knife out, nearly severed his head from his body. Turner died in a few minutes, and as soon as the news of his death reached his neighbors they hurried for the Sheriff, and Judd was arrested and put in jail, when demonstrations were made to mob him. Turner leaves a wife and three children, all of whom witnessed the terrible tragedy.

THE following from the Courier-Journal is pretty good reading for those Democrats who did their duty at the late election, and are able to appreciate the glory of the situation: "Omitting California probabilities, the complete returns from the November elections show that in the Forty-sixth Congress the Democratic plurality over Republicans will be nineteen; the Democratic majority over Republicans and Greenbackers will be fourteen, and the Democratic majority over all, including the portion of the Greenback vote which is pledged Democratic, will be twenty."

THE British Indian forces have, so far, met with no obstacle in their invasion of Afghanistan. The British government has plenty of money and soldiers to back it, and the prospect is that it will make short work of the Amer. The canon belli is the insult offered to the Emperor of India by the denial of Major Carnarvon a passage through the Khyber pass, a few weeks ago, when he went as a commissioner from Lord Lytton to make overtures to Sher Ali.

MR. SPENCER COOPER, late Business Manager of the Lexington Transcript, has begun the publication of a tri-weekly called the Trade-Mark. It promises well, and the very fact of trying to establish another paper in Lexington, is proof that Mr. Cooper has pluck enough to go through if the people will give him a helping hand.

THE President is busily engaged on his message to be presented to Congress on Monday next. Knowing ones say that a great deal of it is devoted to Southern affairs and is just a genuine bloody shirt production as Blaine, Cookling or any of them could wish.

LAST week Warren Tate shot and killed Wm. Love while he was testifying in a case before Judge Burns, at Indianapolis. The Judge fined Tate $10,000 for contempt of Court, and held him without bail for the murder.

POOR Joe Blackburn's hopes for the Speakership have been crushed. The Danville Tribune, which is authority in such matters, says that he has no more chances than Jupiter Russell.

The ordination of baptism was administered to Mrs. C. D. Ayres and Miss Moffie Yeager, by Rev. J. M. Bruce, on Sunday last.

Rev. J. M. Bruce returned on Sunday to Middleburg, where he is assisting Rev. J. M. Satter, in an interesting revival. Twelve had united with the church to Tuesday last.

The only Thanksgiving service held in town yesterday, was at the Methodist church, where the Rev. J. S. Sims preached a very interesting sermon on the subject—God as a Ruler.

The last church meeting of this year will be held at the Baptist church on Saturday, December 7th, at which time a pastor for the coming year will be called, and other important business attended to. A full attendance of the members is earnestly requested.

The Union revival conducted by Rev. J. L. McKee, of Danville, at Lebanon, has closed after lasting four weeks and a half. Fifty-five persons have, so far, united themselves with the several churches that took a part in it, and the Standard says there are a number of converts that have not joined any church yet.

ELDER C. J. McKimney has just closed a meeting at Hall's Gap Church, resulting in 19 additions; 11 by immersion, 3 from the Baptists, 1 by letter and 4 reclaimed. Eld. McKimney developed the strength and piety of the members, and are giving better, and the careless and indifferent are being aroused. He has won the hearts of the people of this community, both old and young, by his clear and forcible way of presenting truth's word. Alonzo Merrill.

PERSONAL.
Hon. J. Preston Knott was in town a day or two of last week, the guest of Professor Fales. Miss Mary C. Knott, a beautiful and interesting young lady from Sedalia, Mo., is visiting at Mr. P. T. Gentry's. She will spend the Winter in this and Lincoln counties.

A WELL MATCHED PAIR.
Saturday night an altercation arose on the corner of Main and Third Streets, between Wm. Brewer and Arch Snow, the Finger Sewing Machine Agent. No sooner was the lie uttered by Mr. Brewer, than the offended feelings of Mr. Snow impelled him to fight against the offender's face and destroyed his equilibrium. Let not this remind any one of "The snow, the beautiful snow," etc.

MR. JOHN C. VOORHS
Gave a Bible reading in the Christian church, Tuesday night. By request, his remarks were upon the 21st chapter of Revelation. It is sufficient to simply mention Mr. Voorhs' appearance upon the platform to know that his audience was deeply interested. His eloquent and picturesque description of the New Jerusalem, was a new delight to those who had heard him upon the subject before, and to strangers it was a rich intellectual treat. Could not Mr. Voorhs' power be used to advantage against Infidelity?

REV. GEORGE O. HARNES
Was greeted by a large audience of his devoted friends at the meetings held here Sunday and Monday. The Christian church was crowded in each service with people eager to hear again the earnest Evangelist and attractive speaker, whose labors in our midst last Spring were so blessed. Nor was he more heartily welcomed than his faithful assistant, Miss Marie, whose sweet singing and modest manners have endeared her to many hearts in Danville. In his discourse Sunday night, Mr. Harnes (referring to the conference of learned clergymen in New York, a few weeks ago in regard to the Millennium), stated it to be his decided conviction that the coming of Christ was not five years hence, and it would be, most probably within half that time.

ESCAPED FROM THE WORKHOUSE.
C. W. Sidman and W. H. Lee, the vendors of lottery tickets, were tried Nov. 22d, before the Judge of the Quarterly Court and a jury, and fined $100 each; failing to pay which, they were sent to the workhouse. There they remained just two days and effected an escape Sunday night by picking a lock, says Mr. Crow. A rumor has gone abroad that our County Attorney received a telegraphic message from them requesting his presence at the Burnet House, Cincinnati, where he could get his 50 per cent. We do not place any credit in the report. Detective Jack Gallagher, of Louisville, came here Friday, and was anxious to take Sidman and Lee home with him, where eight or ten warrants for felony await them. Our claim, however, was prior. These two characters are also badly wanted in other parts of the State.

Mrs. Sallie Wesley and Miss Willie Belle returned on Saturday after a visit of six weeks in Woodford. Our College boys are home for Thanksgiving. Mr. "State" White, of Richmond, is here for a slice of turkey.
RELIGIOUS.
The Bible Society meeting at the Methodist church on Sunday night was almost a failure, so far as contributions were concerned. The Christian congregation will resume services at the church next Sunday. Rev. Mr. Pentz will preach on Thanksgiving.

SOME CONSOLATION, AT LEAST.
The Richmond Branch train now creeps in any where between 5 and 8 P. M. Our courteous station master has decided to fit up his domain with oriental elegance for the entertainment of friends who necessarily spend so many hours of the day with him; while the carriages drawn up in line of waiting would indicate that every night is his levee night.

A WAR ON THE MICE.
Master John Wesley set his trap two or three days last week, and caught fifty-three mice. May he carry this blessed trap around among his neighbors and confer a similar boon. One mouse alone has been known recently to devour a handsome Chinichilla overcoat with as much ease as did Mark Twain's camel the touzoune. Nor could a host of cavalry troops make more havoc than do these respectable quadrupeds that infest antique palaces.

COUNTY COURT.
Was as dismal a day as its successors have been. The following Commissioner's sales have been held in: In the case of P. D. Gill vs. M. H. Gill, etc., Common Pleas Court, W. H. Kinnaird, Special Commissioner, sold 191 A. & P. to plaintiff at $22 per acre. In the case of C. V. Higgins vs. M. Jones, etc., Circuit Court, Master Court's Walton sold the following tracts: 258 A. and 10 P. to plaintiff Higgins at $16 25 per acre; 101 A. 3 P. to same at $15 per acre; 78 acres to same at $18 per acre. A VISIT TO LOUISVILLE—LOUISVILLE, KY.
Last Thursday's train found the writer snugly ensconced in a comfortable seat with a comfortable party en route for Louisville. As usual, it rained. No one can go in the city without encountering rain at some period of the sitting. Fortunately for our party, the most of the bad weather was while we were journeying. The streets were several inches deep in mud, that was about the consistency of boiled custard and boots and shoes presented a rich field for the blackey's speculative genius. Street cars were liberally patronized, but the crossings and transfers necessitated a brief though telling contact with mother earth. An night came on a carriage relieved us of these difficulties, and soon we were rolling along toward Opera Hall, where Igersoll was to astonish the natives. The dailies are always so prompt to take up celebrities that a poor little country weekly reporter has nothing left but to make. So Igersoll has been ventilated, and is condemned and excused. The man is, accordingly, captivated as a speaker, his appearance pleasing, his voice flexible and penetrating, his gestures easy and ready.

his command of language something extraordinary. As to the doctrines he teaches, no material good can come of them. If the Bible be a myth and fall a superstition, let us live by the one and ditch by the other, confident that no better light will dawn for us. He inculcates a high standard of philanthropy, charity and morality. He believes that the man who has lived up to these requisitions stands a far surer chance of heaven (if there be such a place) than the opposite character who clings to get to Paradise through church ordinances. He is a dangerous innovator; for while he says many excellent things, he conveys his infidelity in such winning terms as to delude the unreasoning and upset the accepted theory of life everlasting. He has reduced reason to a point so fine that his audences are often in roars of laughter. In fact, he has only to look at them with a quizzical index to his thoughts, and the laugh breaks forth before he has expressed the idea. The house was crowded to overflowing, yielding hundreds of dollars. Ingersoll received only $250, according to agreement with the Lecture Bureau. Another great attraction in the city was Mr. J. K. Emmet in his capital rendition of the New Fritz. McCauley's was crowded at every performance. The Lullaby as composed by the actor himself and sung to his little sister, runs through the play, and is thrilling in pathetic sweetness. The scenes are laid in Germany and America, and the story acts merely as a framework to set forth the versatile genius of Emmet, who sings and plays on numerous instruments. In the prison scene he renders "Home, Sweet Home," on the French harp with marvelous skill and harmony. Every appointment of the play, from the little donkey to the lovely baby who acts a dual part to perfection, is well worthy of applause. The shops in Louisville are bright with winter fashions, and money flies as if resumption days were a phantom of the brain.

RELIGIOUS.

COUNTY COURT.
Last Monday was County Court day. There was a fair crowd in town, though little business was done in the Court. The case of the Fine Hill Coal Company vs. A. P. Ricketts & Co., was continued by consent till the December term.
A GOOD IDEA.
M. F. Brinkley desires every body to know that he is needing money and those who owe him must come forward and settle at once. His condition will admit of no delay. After the 1st of January next, he proposes to adopt the cash system exclusively.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.
All persons knowing themselves indebted to W. T. Brooks are hereby notified that his notes and accounts have been placed in the hands of Sam. M. A CONSUMMATION DEVOTEDLY TO BE WISHED.
There has been such a lively handling of the pistol for the last few weeks in this county, that our professional duties have caused us to neglect this column. Let us all hope that the last tragedy has occurred, and that hereafter the pen and the ploughshare, instead of the pistol and the bowie-knife may engage our attention.

PERSONAL.
Miss Fannie Williams, one of our most charming young ladies, left Tuesday morning for a visit to her sister, Mrs. L. S. Jones, in Louisville. Miss Celia D. Adams has returned from her visit in Warsaw. Mrs. R. U. Potter and little daughter, from Manchester, who have been visiting Mrs. C. A. Redd, Jr., returned home this week. Mr. J. J. Brooks, of Richmond, a former resident of this place, and a most agreeable gentleman, is spending a few days with his mother and friends at this place.

ACQUITTAL OF ADAMS.
Jack Adams, Jr., was tried last Thursday before Esquire M. R. Moore and J. Whitehead, for shooting and killing Liberty Langford, on the 8th inst. The evidence was quite strong that Langford provoked the difficulty, made an attempt to draw his pistol before Adams procured his weapon, did finally draw his pistol first, and fired the shot. It was plainly a case of justifiable homicide. Adams was triumphantly acquitted of all blame in the affair. There seemed to be a feeling of general satisfaction at the result. A large number of Adams' friends were present at the trial, who surrounded him at its conclusion and congratulated him upon his prompt vindication.

JIM BETHURMAN HERE WITH HIS BOWIE KNIFE.
Last Thursday evening, 21st inst., as parties who had been attending the trial at this place on that day, were making their way home, a most unfortunate difficulty occurred about a mile from town on the Roman road. James J. Bethurman and J. J. Thompson were riding on one horse, Bethurman riding behind. Beside them rode Edmund Snodgrass. Some hot words passed between Bethurman and Snodgrass. Both went for their pistols—Bethurman a large Child's navy, hung in the scabbard. Snodgrass was a pocket pistol, a small Smith & Wesson, caliber 32. He fired and struck Bethurman near the top, and elab-

on the left side of the head—the ball passing through the brain and lodging under the left eye. Bethurman never spoke, but tumbled off his horse into the mud—and died without a groan. Snodgrass succeeded himself to the Sheriff and told what he had done. The next morning a warrant was sworn out against Thompson, charging him as an accessory to the killing. Their trial was set for Monday, but when it was called the County Attorney asked to the Court that he was related by marriage to one of the defendants, that he had made this fact known to the father of Bethurman, and at his advice, he asked the Court to excuse him from prosecuting the case, which was done accordingly, and R. B. Cook was appointed to represent the State in the prosecution. The examination was then adjourned till yesterday (Thursday). Public opinion is somewhat divided about the affair, though it is generally believed that Snodgrass shot in self-defense. There has long been a decided animosity between him and Bethurman. The latter, your readers will recollect, indicted Snodgrass for Kn Kluxing some time ago, but when the case was called in the Courts, he failed to swear to his identity. This caused a bitterness, as Snodgrass was put to considerable trouble and expense, and the case was decided on a peremptory instruction from the Court. Last Thursday the parties met and talked matters over. They agreed to make friends, shake hands and take a drink, which they did. And in less than an hour afterwards Bethurman was a corpse and Snodgrass was in custody.

BAD WEATHER FOR PORK PACKERS.
The continued warm, damp weather is creating some uneasiness in the minds of our pork packers as to its safety. Many of our farmers are packing their hogs, risking the bacon market next year rather than to sell at the present unremunerative prices.

STOCK ITEMS.
Messrs. Brown and Sloan, of this county, recently sold 22 head of aged mules to Messrs. McDonald and Cox, of Lagrange, Georgia, for $80 per head. Mr. N. L. Butler sold some parties a Mustang pony for $20. Mr. H. Huffaker is going home for $75. Capt. Lewis has just returned from New York, whither he had been with a lot of fat cattle. He reports no unfavorable trip.

ROBBERY.
The house of Mr. Perry Summers, living at the head of Elk Spring Valley, was entered Tuesday night and robbed of $512. A portion of the money was concealed in a false bottom nailed to the under side of a chest, the remainder was locked in a trunk. He and his family had left home to spend the night with a neighbor living close by, consequently had no clue as to who committed the robbery.

FEARFUL DEFEAT.
Mr. William Underaker and his son Lincoln, were arraigned before his Honor, Judge Haynes, on Tuesday last, charged with breach of the peace, for an attack upon James Long. The jury returned a verdict of guilty, and fined William $5 and Lincoln $15 and costs. The rioters on election day were arraigned on Saturday, before Hon. T. J. Lee, P. J. T. M., and moderately fined for their fun.

RE-OPENING A THOROUGHFARE.
In order to guard against results utterly subversive of health, it is absolutely essential that the road thoroughfare or avenue of the system, the lungs, should be re-opened as speedily as possible when they become obstructed. It has been found that the lungs are the most delicate and the most important of the human system; and that if they become clogged, the life becomes a torment. It is therefore imperative that a thoroughfare be kept open, and that the lungs be kept in a state of perfect health. The lungs are the most delicate and the most important of the human system; and that if they become clogged, the life becomes a torment. It is therefore imperative that a thoroughfare be kept open, and that the lungs be kept in a state of perfect health.
